

BRIDGE CARS COLLIDE.

A Brooklyn Bound Train Runs Into One Standing Still.

E. W. Kelly, a Passenger, Thrown to the Floor and Injured.

Others Badly Shaken Up and Frightened.

A rear end collision close to the Brooklyn station of the bridge at 9:30 this morning resulted in one man being slightly injured and several other passengers being badly shaken up.

The train from the platform on the incoming side and another train were approaching at a high rate of speed. The gripman on the first car, as he passed the platform, put on his brakes. In some manner the brake chains were caught underneath the car, and the train came to a sudden stop about one yard length from the end of the platform.

The engine was run into the train and an attempt made to haul it into the depot, but it would not budge an inch.

The gripman on the platform, seeing another train coming down the grade, displayed a danger signal. The gripman on the incoming train released the cable and tried to stop his train, but it was too late to avert a collision.

The trains came together with much force. There were about a half dozen passengers in the first car of the moving train. One of them, E. W. Kelly, a commercial traveler, thirty years old, and living at 301 West Thirtieth street, was hurled from his seat and rolled off onto the floor.

The other passengers were shaken up and more or less frightened, but not seriously hurt.

Mr. Kelly was assisted to a seat. Then a gang of workmen arranged the brake chains and the cars were pulled into the depot.

An ambulance surgeon was called. Mr. Kelly was found to have been badly bruised about the head and neck, and sustained an injury to a rib. The surgeon said it may have been fractured.

Miss Friedman was taken to her car and sent to his home in New York.

The damage to the cars will not exceed $10,000.

Young Man and Woman Injured by a Butcher's Cart.

The cart was driven by a man named Mason, twenty-one years old, of 111 Eldridge street, and Yetta Friedman, twenty, a garment maker, of 112 Essex street, were half way across Mulberry street when they were knocked down by the horse.

The wagon passed over them, and the driver, evidently in a hurry, did not stop. The woman was severely injured, and her horse and disappeared down Canal street.

An ambulance was summoned, and when it arrived Dr. Taylor found Miss Friedman suffering from a fractured skull and several severe contusions. Englehart was also bruised, but was able to go home. Miss Friedman was taken to the Chambers Street Hospital.

The driver of the cart was arrested.

TWO UNCONSCIOUS FROM GAS.

Kenneys, Father and Son, Found Almost Asphyxiated.

Young Man May Recover, but the Elder Is Pretty Certain to Die.

Michael Kenney, sixty-five years old, and his son, Edward, thirty years old, were removed from their tailor shop, 152 West Fourth street, at 8:10 this morning, to St. Vincent's Hospital, suffering from inhaling gas.

The Kenneys did a prosperous business in their little shop, employing two extra men. Had it not been for the punctuality of one of those journeymen in reporting for work today the two men, or the elder at least, would undoubtedly have been removed to an undertaker's instead of a hospital.

The elder Kenney was an early riser and very methodical in his habits and customs. He was in all seasons his store doors have been open at 7 A. M.

This morning, when Edward, Michael's son, called at 7:30 and found the doors locked and the curtains drawn he knew that something was amiss. He tried to shake the doors down, but failed to arouse the occupants, who slept in a little room just off the workshop. Then he thought he detected an odor of gas and hurried off to call the police.

The door was forced open, but the odor of gas was so strong that they were obliged to defer entering for several minutes.

Lying on their beds, both unconscious, the father and son were found by the former who appeared to be dead, but the latter showed signs of life. A hurry call for an ambulance was sent to St. Vincent's, and both were removed to the hospital without delay. On the way the younger man revived, but not sufficient to tell how the gas happened to be turned on in the bedroom.

The investigation, arriving at the conclusion that it was an accident, the result of carelessness on the part of the younger man. The key of the jet was not turned entirely off, and the gas leaked around the joint. It is believed that the gas had been escaping all night.

The father is in a critical condition, and in view of his advanced age but little hope is entertained of his recovery.

IS PARKE A SUICIDE?

Relatives Fear that He Threw Himself Over Niagara Falls.

Friends and relatives of James Hunt Parke, son of the head of the drug firm Parke, Davis & Company, 90 Maiden lane, who mysteriously disappeared from this city April 12, fear that he has committed suicide by throwing himself over Niagara Falls.

The cause of his disappearance is said to have been an overtaxed brain. He was in the habit of visiting New York, where he bought a ticket for Niagara Falls. At this point all trace of the missing man was lost.

Whetmore, Worthley and Walter H. Clay, of this city, are searching everywhere for the missing man. They have the body to-day, but as yet not the faintest clue has been found.

The father is in a critical condition, and in view of his advanced age but little hope is entertained of his recovery.

Michael Fahey, fifty-three years old, of 221 First street, died at 12:25 this morning from the effects of a dose of Paris green which he took at 5 o'clock last night.

The police are inclined to believe that the man wished to end his life, but Dr. John Corbitt, who attended him, says he is positive Fahey made a mistake and took the poison, thinking it something else.

To make matters worse, the lapidary was compelled to walk to the old city station and explain to the Sergeant before being sent home.

TOLUCA MINERS ATTACKED.

Five Men Wounded in a Row at a Mining Town.

Strikers Used Clubs on Men Who Refused to Quit Work.

(By Associated Press.) TOLUCA, Mex., April 28.—A rioting broke out here at 8:30 o'clock last night, and the first blood was shed owing to the refusal of several miners to quit work. Five men were wounded before the deputies could reach the scene of the trouble. The fighting was over in two minutes. Several platoons were freed without other effect than to attract a crowd of miners who had been dancing in the neighboring saloons and dance halls.

The wounded are F. Garibaldi, Frank Marthi and Demetri Spilke. Two other miners to have been badly injured were carried into the woods by their friends and have not been found. The doctors say the men named will recover. They were beaten with clubs, Garibaldi and Marthi are Italians, while Spilke is a Pole. After the attack the miners carried to a saloon, where their wounds were dressed.

The night was the result of a meeting of strikers from neighboring villages and men who said they would not be troubled by the police. A rioting broke out only averted through the bellhangers being notified of the strikers' intention of attacking party five, and after a brief search the deputies gave up the attempt to capture them.

MORE BEER BOYCOTTERS.

This Time Bernard Kerns Causes the Arrest of Four.

Twenty boycotters of Budweiser beer for hours last night promulgated and fro in front of Bernard Kerns' saloon, at the northeast corner of Third avenue and Fourteenth street, and tried to stop every one from entering the saloon.

Kerns, who was formerly the President of the Liquor Dealers' Association, finally stepped outside and remonstrated with them, but to no avail. They continued their bulldozing tactics whenever they had the opportunity.

Twenty-two members of the East Twenty-second street station, took four of them into custody, and by a threat to arrest the other three induced them to leave the neighborhood.

The prisoners said they were Matthew West, Frederick Kline, twenty-two, of West Thirty-third street; John Johnson, twenty-two, of 660 West Forty-eighth street; Patrick Kelly, twenty-two, of 748 Twenty-second avenue, and Patrick McVicker, twenty-nine, of 457 West Twenty-second street. They were ordered to leave the neighborhood.

They were, however, subsequently released. The police were called to the scene of the riot, and they were taken to the station.

Monday Justice Burke discharged the other three, who were hanging about Grady's saloon, at Third avenue and Thirty-first street, all day Sunday.

IRON MOUNTAIN'S WOE.

Hundreds Are Without Food, and Rioting Is Feared.

(By Associated Press.) IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., April 28.—Poor Commissioner McClintock handed his resignation to Chairman McNaughton, of the Central Railroad, yesterday, after a long and bitter struggle. He had passed a resolution giving him two hours to leave the city or suffer the consequences. Everyone who marched through the streets with a red flag was given a Poor Commission order for $2, good at any store, and during the afternoon 500 or more members of the chivalry gathered in a building and decided to ask the State to give immediate aid to prevent starvation.

The assistance given yesterday will tide them over until Monday, but other help must be found. The men are mostly foreigners. The men are mostly foreigners.

COAL SUPPLY IS LOW.

New Believed that the Strike Will Soon Be Over.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—The situation in the mining regions at the end of the first week of the big strike remains practically unchanged. Advice received this morning from the mining districts east of the Alleghenies are to the effect that not a mine is in operation with the single exception of a small mine near Oceola, which employs but 50 men.

The reports also state that the supply of coal is fast becoming exhausted. It is expected that the strike will last but a few days longer, and many operators intimate that it would be the better policy to accede to the demands of the strikers and make a small profit rather than keep their mines closed.

The general opinion seems to be that the strike will not last through another week. There is already talk of a compromise, and it is believed that an understanding will be reached between the miners and operators in the next few days.

The President of the United Mine Workers' Association.

NEW MOVE AGAINST THE G. N.

Proceedings Begun to Compel It to Operate Its Lines.

(By Associated Press.) HELENA, Mont., April 28.—Proceedings were begun in the Supreme Court to-day to compel the Great Northern to operate its lines within Montana. The petition alleges that the railroad, in disregard of its obligations assumed in the acceptance of its franchise, has refused to operate all of its lines, although it can hire competent men at less than the rate of $100 a month, and employees upon any other line in Montana.

These proceedings will be followed by a hearing on the 29th. The railroad has refused to operate the line, and the court has ordered the application under consideration.

LABORERS DRIVEN FROM THEIR WORK.

CLEVELAND, April 28.—One hundred of the idle laboring men of this city marched yesterday upon the construction gang at work for the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling Railroad, just outside this city, and drove them from their tools and disperses. Work will be resumed in a few days under a strong guard of special policemen.
